This guide outlines citation style for commonly used legal resources. A list of further readings is provided at the end of this guide.

GENERAL INFORMATION ON GRAMMAR AND STYLE:

Footnotes:
Footnotes (citation references inserted at end of relevant page) should be used instead of endnotes (citation references inserted at end of paper or assignment) or in text citations.

Students should footnote all materials referred to or directly quoted from as well as materials that ideas were taken from.

‘See’ references in footnotes:
‘See’— supports idea or argument in text
‘See also’— added information to support idea

Bibliography:
Students should provide a Bibliography at the end of their papers or assignments using the following headings to group references (all materials in alphabetical order within group).

Textbooks/journal articles/government publications
Cases
Legislation
Treaties or international documents

Referencing:
In assignments or papers the first reference should always be provided in full. It is then possible to use the following for further references to the same work.

Ibid: (Latin meaning: ‘in the same place’ for same source cited immediately above). Add relevant page if different from page used in original footnote.

For a reference already cited that does not appear immediately above use
Above n (n= footnote number) or
Below n (n= footnote number) for parts of the text or footnotes that come after the present footnote.
Quotations:
Substantial quotations should be indented and single-spaced preceded by a semi-colon - use of quotation marks is optional.
Short quotations placed within the text should have quotation marks or inverted commas.

Quoting judges in text:
Provide judge’s name and abbreviation of their judicial title when quoting their judgments in the text of paper or assignment.

In a footnote provide case reference and then reference to judge and their judicial title in brackets.

PRIMARY SOURCES:
Note materials listed below may be found in online sources. A URL reference is not required for most primary sources as they generally will be sourced from established commercial or free sources and pagination or paragraph referencing will have been provided.

HK Reported cases:
A reported case would be cited as follows:

Jumbo King Ltd v Faithful Properties Ltd (1999) 2 HKCFAR 279 (CFA)

Party names followed by year and volume reference then abbreviation for set of law reports the case is reported in. Only the first page reference is provided unless the case is being referred to in a footnote. The page or page range being referred to should then be indicated as follows.

Jumbo King Ltd v Faithful Properties Ltd (1999) 2 HKCFAR 279, 282

Or

Jumbo King Ltd v Faithful Properties Ltd (1999) 2 HKCFAR 279 at 282

If the case has parallel citations the authorised should be referred to when known.
